University Good Samaritan Regulation (PRR.REG 11.30.02)

The purpose of the Good Samaritan Regulation is to remove a potential barrier and facilitate access to emergency medical care in cases of alcohol related medical emergencies.

Consequences of the Lack of Knowledge of the Good Samaritan Law

If there is a lack of knowledge of the Good Samaritan Law...

then those who are on the scene are less likely to call for help when someone is overdosing, increasing the likelihood of death by overdose.

If there was a greater knowledge of the Good Samaritan Law…

then those who witness an overdose will be more likely to call for help, thus saving lives and preventing death by overdose.

A person who has a concealed handgun permit that is valid, can have a handgun on campus in a closed compartment or container within the person’s locked vehicle while the vehicle is in a parking area that is owned or leased by the University. A person may unlock the vehicle to enter or exit the vehicle, provided the handgun remains in the closed compartment at all times.

Jeanne Clery Act

- November 1990, the Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act
- November 1999, renamed The Clery Act

It is the policy of East Carolina University to publish by October 1st of each school year an annual security report that informs current students and employees of its safety and security policies, procedures and practices. Our annual report, Safety & You at ECU will also disclose statistics from the previous three years concerning reported crimes that occurred on campus, in certain off-campus buildings or property either owned or controlled by the University and owned or controlled by student organizations recognized by the University, and on public property within or immediately adjacent to and accessible from the campus.

Bystander Intervention
Be a good bystander. Protect your fellow Pirates.
ECU Advocacy

Provides assistance to any member of the ECU Community who has been the victim or witness to a crime or other traumatic event. The ECU advocacy provides support and guidance in the following ways:

• An opportunity to talk about what happened
• Referrals to campus, community and state resources
• Provide information to help with deciding on a course of action
• Planning for your future safety and that of your friends through workshops and presentations
Blount House

ALWAYS OPEN

We would rather respond and have it be no big deal, than not respond and have something bad happen.
